Both Parties Study Chance Of Tax Cuts

Improvement Next Month in Nation's Economy Is Big Hope

WASHINGTON (AP)—Both the Eisenhower administration and Democratic leaders in Congress may swing into action with recovery measures (including tax cut proposals) if the economy doesn't pick up next month.

However, some Republican leaders professed to see signs that the economy is about to stage a comeback.

Secretary of Labor Mitchell said "I would think so" when he was asked if it was the consensus of the Cabinet that a tax cut should be proposed if unemployment continues to rise next month.

But Mitchell said he expects unemployment to decline in March after reaching a peak of perhaps 4,600,000 or 4,700,000 jobsless this month. Unemployment in January was reported as nearly 4 1/2 million, or 5.8 per cent of the total civilian working force.

There already are signs the employment situation is improving, the labor secretary said. But he declared that if the business lag should get worse the administration will "do whatever is necessary" to reverse the trend.

SEN. MANSFIELD of Montana, the assistant Democratic leader, said that if things don't start looking better in March the Democrats in Congress will "move immediately into the breach" with legislation now being drafted. Mansfield didn't specifically mention tax reduction, but it is known Democratic congressional leaders are considering such action.

Administration economic officials have predicted a business upturn by midyear.

Secretary of the Treasury Anderson said there are a number of indicators "which I think give us reasonable grounds to believe that there will be a real revitalization of the economy."

As for a tax cut, Anderson said the administration does "not rule out the possibility should it prove to be warranted."

Meanwhile, a government report said the total value of all goods and services dropped from an annual rate of $440 billion to $432 billion in the final quarter of 1957. The Commerce Department said, however, that the gross national product for the year totaled $434 1/2 billion. The output was at new highs both in volume and value.

Cuban Rebels Kidnap World Champ Racer

HAVANA (AP)—Cuban rebels had President Fulgencio Batista on a new hot spot today with the kidnapping of Argentina's world champion auto racing driver Juan Fangio from his Havana hotel.

Embarrassed police searched frantically for abductors of the 46-year-old five-time world titleholder as the capital, jammed for today's Gran Premio auto races, buzzed over the audacious feat.

Special guards were assigned to the 24 other internationally famed drivers here.

Authorities refused to discuss the Fangio case, but rebel leader Fidel Castro was quick to claim responsibility. A rebel spokesman telephoned the Associated Press to confirm the abduction Sunday but would not say what would be done with Fangio.

Friends expressed doubt the champion was in any danger. They believed the rebels were holding him in an attempt to force cancellation of the auto races, slated to start at 2 p. m., and thus give Batista an international black eye.

But Brig. Gen. Roberto Fernandez Miranda, head of the National Sports Commission, said the race would be held on schedule.

Secretary Dulles Says

Soviet Economic Assault Greater Peril than War

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles told Congress today there is even greater danger from international communism's political-economic warfare than from open armed attack.

"The Trade Agreement Act stands as a worldwide symbol of enlightened statesmanship," Dulles said in pleading for President Eisenhower's requested five-year extension of the law.

"Failure to renew and strengthen that act would set back the clock and endanger our republic and each and every person in it," he said.

Dulles appeared before the tariff-writing House Ways and Means Committee in the face of potent opposition to extension of the reciprocal trade program. Without congressional action, it would expire June 30.

Many House members, including most Republicans on the committee, have been cold about continuing the act which they say hurts American industry. They have been pushing for raising, rather than lowering tariff barriers.

DULLES pictured the law as helpful to America's own economy and needed for free world strength against the Communist threat.

"It would be a great mistake to assume that the only danger our nation faces is that from open armed attack," Dulles testified.

"The greater danger comes from the political-economic warfare of international communism."

He said Red strategy involves subverting one country after another until finally the United States is isolated.

"It would be reckless to treat that threat as negligible," he said.

"Soviet rulers have been rapidly developing their means of waging economic warfare against the United States and have now achieved an industrial level that enables them to export manufactured goods in increasing quantity and variety, and to take in exchange large amounts of natural products.

"They hope thus to gain economic dominance, and subsequent political dominance, in many countries."

Later this week Dulles will return to Capitol Hill to plug for the administration's other main foreign policy bill — foreign aid. This measure also is in trouble. Tuesday Eisenhower, former President Truman, Dulles, Vice President Nixon, Adlai E. Stevenson and a host of other notables join in a bipartisan drive to sell Congress on foreign aid.

Wednesday, Dulles makes his pitch to the House Foreign Affairs Committee for Eisenhower's request for $3,942,092,500 in new aid funds for the fiscal year starting July 1. The amount is more than $1 billion above the new appropriations Congress voted after a hard fight last year.

The reciprocal trade bill, normally fought by those who say cheap foreign imports hurt U. S. industry, faces added opposition now because of the nation's economic downturn, and the growth of industry in the once free-trade-conscious southern states.

Congressional opinion seems not to have jelled yet on the new foreign aid program.

State Board Orders County School Shifts

The Pickaway County School Superintendent, George McDowell, has received orders from the State Board of Education ordering the transfer of school district territories of Wayne Twp. and a part of Washington Twp. to the Circleville School District and the New Holland School District to Miami Trace School district of Fayette County.

The County Board is directed to make this transfer within 30 days after receipt of notice which will be March 19. The three school districts in question had successfully petitioned the State Board of Education for transfer to the respective territories on February 10.

The New Holland petition was headed up by Mr. and Mrs. Harold Hurt, while Wayne Twp. petition was first signed by H. L. Parmer. The Washington petition was first signed by E. R. Bennett.

Weatherman Now Offering Sign of Spring

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.
Well, after all these very wintry days, the Ohio weatherman has come up with a change of heart, or at least, a change of forecasts.

Instead of predicting below-normal temperatures, he says some above-normal mercury readings are in the offing for the Buckeye realm.

Here is his forecast for the next five days:

"Temperatures will average 5-8 degrees above normal. Normal high 39 north, 46 south; normal low 23-27. Continued mild with only minor changes from day to day. Precipitation will average less than one-tenth inch, occurring as possible showers Thursday."

The balmy weather is helping unsmiling Ohio River traffic in a hurry. The Weather Bureau in Cincinnati said Sunday river ice is thinning out and traffic can likely return to normal there soon.

A bureau spokesman said the river's movable dams are being put up again and the Ohio should be in pool in less than a week.

The dams were dropped during the recent streak of cold weather to prevent ice pileups.

The spokesman said ice is still running in the river, but that it will probably be no problem to traffic except small craft.

Local Glass Worker, Aged Driver Die

Two auto crashes, one Saturday night and the other at about noon today, resulted in two Route 22 deaths.

Loring Gilford Eldridge, 43, of 433 1/2 E. Mound St., was killed instantly in a head-on collision at 11:25 p. m. Saturday on Route 22 about four miles east of Circleville. He was the father of three small girls.

E. L. Hurst, 80, Lancaster, was killed today when his west-bound car smashed into the rear of a State Highway Department truck on Route 22 just inside Fairfield County. The crash was near a roadside park which is located on the Pickaway-Fairfield County line.

Eldridge's death marked the first traffic fatality in Pickaway County for 1958. Last year at this time one fatality had been recorded on this date. Hurst's death occurred in Fairfield County.

According to Deputy Sheriffs Charles Felkey and Robert Hoover, Hurst probably died instantly. He was pinned underneath the car, deputies said.

HIS WIFE, Grace Hurst, 80, suffered abrasions and contusions. She was rushed to Berger Hospital for emergency treatment and later transferred to Lancaster-Fairfield Hospital, Lancaster.

Deputies said both Mr. and Mrs. Hurst were thrown from the car. The car crashed into the truck which apparently was turning into the park, lawmen said.

Felkey said the car then veered away from the truck and plunged into the park area. The auto was demolished.

Hurst was removed to the Deffenbaugh Funeral Home where funeral arrangements will be completed.

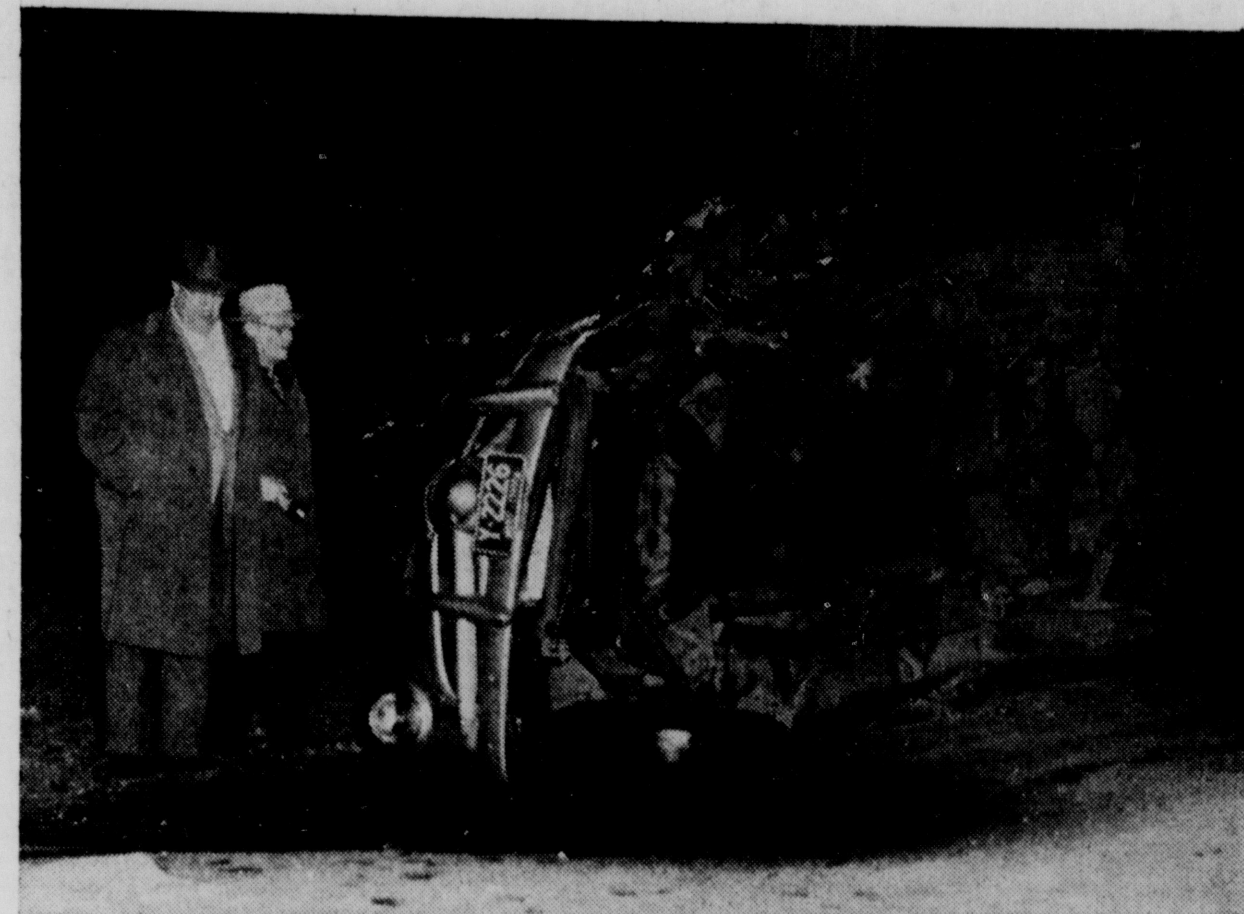

Eldridge, driving home from work at the Anchor-Hocking Glass Co. in Lancaster, crashed head-on with a car carrying three teenagers, who, according to the sheriff's department, were attempting to pass another auto.

The teenagers' car was driven by Ronald Mettler, 18, Route 1, Lockbourne. His passengers were Lee Smith, 19, and James Schlegler, 14, both of Route 4, Circleville.

SMITH, thrown from the car, was in satisfactory condition today in University Hospital, Columbus. He suffered severe internal injuries and lacerations and abrasions of the face.

Mettler was taken to Berger Hospital for lacerations and abrasions, possible skull fracture and a possible fracture of the right

Youngstown Swindler on Way to Ohio

YOUNGSTOWN (AP)—City councilman John J. Tobin Jr., will have an attentive audience if he cares to do some talking during today's train trip from Texas to Ohio.

Policemen returning the 29-year-old insurance adjuster to Youngstown said he swindled his employer out of an estimated $250,000.

Tobin had been missing almost two months when he walked into a police trap in Houston, Tex., on Friday. His business associate and campaign manager, Paul E. Shade, 31, escaped the trap and is still at large. Tobin is charged with embezzlement. Shade is charged with aiding and abetting the alleged swindle.

Twelve other persons, including a doctor and a lawyer, have been arrested in connection with the fraud.

Ex-Probe Attorney Labeled As an 'Unmitigated Liar'

WASHINGTON (AP)—Thurman A. Whiteside, a Miami lawyer, denounced Bernard Schwartz as "an unmitigated liar" today for having connected him with a television channel applicant and for suggesting he passed money to a Federal Communications Commission member.

Whiteside, testifying under oath before a special House investigating subcommittee, accused Schwartz, dismissed committee counsel, of withholding information from the group.

He said Schwartz knew there was a long record of loan transactions between Whiteside and Richard A. Mack going back five years before Mack became a member of the FCC.

Schwartz told the committee earlier in his hearing that Whiteside had turned over at least $2,650 to Mack. Schwartz raised a question whether this was intended to influence Mack's vote in the contest for Miami TV channel 10. Both Mack and Whiteside had described the money as loans, Schwartz added.

Whiteside said Schwartz had further testified Whiteside was employed as an attorney by National Airlines or its subsidiary, Public Service Television, Inc., which won the contest for the Miami channel.

Whiteside said Schwartz knew this "was untrue prior to the time he gave his testimony."

"To that extent he bears false witness and is an unmitigated liar," the Miami attorney told the subcommittee in deliberate tones.

Whiteside said Schwartz' statement that Mack was pledged in the TV contest was untrue. Whiteside said Mack has never been pledged at any time.

He said Schwartz had no facts on which to base his testimony and what information he had was second hand and was premised on an affidavit made by A. Frank Katzentine, a loser in the case.

Whiteside, a dark, balding man wearing horn rimmed glasses, had a prepared statement in which he reviewed testimony by Schwartz.

He said Schwartz testified "that he had evidence of payments made to a federal communications commissioner in a television case, that I had paid R. A. Mack $2,650 since he joined the commission in July 1955 and had further paid Mack $1,000 March 22, 1955 and that he—Schwartz—did not know whether there was a prearrangement between Mack and myself."

Continuing to read from the statement, Whiteside said:

"He did not reveal that he had canceled checks which I furnished him, going back to April 1950, five years before Mack's appointment and totaling $7,830 reflected in loan transactions."

Electrical Union Strike May Hit 6 Ohio Companies

GALLIPOLIS (AP)—A strike hit the big Kyger Creek power plant near here Sunday night and is expected to spread to 15 electric companies in seven states.

The companies have said that in event of a strike there will be no power "blackout" because supervisory personnel will be able to maintain electric service.

But William R. Munger, national vice president of the striking Utility Workers Union of America (UWUA), said the union is gambling on supervisors being unable to handle the work load at Kyger Creek indefinitely.

He added, however, that the union realizes that supervisors can operate the plant for "a given number of days, with luck."

Presumably, the union is hoping the same situation will prevail if and when the strike spreads to the 15 companies which formed the Ohio Valley Electric Corp. (OVEC), operators of the Kyger Creek plant.

MUNGER SAID all main installations of the 15 sponsoring companies "definitely will be picketed."

He declined to say when such picketing will start, although adding that he knows exactly when.

The companies operate in Ohio, Maryland, West Virginia, Indiana, Pennsylvania, Virginia and Kentucky.

Six of these companies operate in Ohio. They are: Columbus and Southern Ohio Electric, Dayton Power and Light, Ohio Power, Ohio Edison, Toledo Edison and Cincinnati Gas and Electric.

"It is unfortunate that we had to resort to this (the strike)," Munger said. "We recognize our responsibility and the seriousness of the situation, particularly since electric power is involved, but the position of the company left us no alternative."

Picket lines went up at the Kyger Creek plant shortly after 11 o'clock Sunday night. The plant, 15 miles north of here along the Ohio River, supplies power to the Atomic Energy Commission's uranium diffusion works in Pike County.

Munger said there were eight to 10 pickets at the plant. Asked if everything was peaceful, he replied, "everything's lovely."

James G. Cox, an OVEC administrative assistant, said about 35 workers left the night shift at 11 p. m. He said 35 others due at midnight did not show up.

"THE PLANT is being operated by supervisory personnel and they will continue to operate it," said Cox.

Today, Gallia County Common Pleas Judge Robert M. Betz issued a temporary restraining order governing conduct of pickets and the union in general during the strike. The order was granted on petition of the OVEC. A hearing on the order was set by the judge for 10 a. m. Wednesday.

The seven-point injunction enjoins Local 430 of the UWUA from interfering with persons leaving or entering the plant, either through violence or threatening language. It orders peaceful picketing and specifies that not more than four pickets shall be posted at any entrance to the plant.

The UWUA represents 193 workers at Kyger Creek and about 9,000 of the 15,000 union members employed by the 15 sponsoring companies, Munger said.

The International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers (IBEW), which like UWUA is affiliated with the AFL-CIO, has about 4,000 members working at the sponsoring companies, Munger said.

However, an IBEW spokesman in Cincinnati had said earlier that in event of a strike at the sponsoring companies his union members would not honor UWUA picket lines but would observe their contract.

NEGOTIATIONS between the UWUA and OVEC broke off Friday night. Then Sunday Federal Mediator George H. Bell left the scene, saying the two sides were so far apart, there was no avenue open for negotiation of the differences.

Munger said the union wants a new one-year contract to include a 6 per cent wage boost amounting to a little more than 12 cents an hour on an average base rate of about $2 hourly. He said other demands are for improvements in vacations and shift differentials.

Cox said the company could not give an immediate wage hike, adding that it had given employees a 5 1/2 per cent increase last Sept. 1. But he said the company would agree to a contract clause for a wage reopener in the near future.

He declined to say when such picketing will start, although adding that he knows exactly when.

The companies operate in Ohio, Maryland, West Virginia, Indiana, Pennsylvania, Virginia and Kentucky.

Six of these companies operate in Ohio. They are: Columbus and Southern Ohio Electric, Dayton Power and Light, Ohio Power, Ohio Edison, Toledo Edison and Cincinnati Gas and Electric.

"It is unfortunate that we had to resort to this (the strike)," Munger said. "We recognize our responsibility and the seriousness of the situation, particularly since electric power is involved, but the position of the company left us no alternative."

Picket lines went up at the Kyger Creek plant shortly after 11 o'clock Sunday night. The plant, 15 miles north of here along the Ohio River, supplies power to the Atomic Energy Commission's uranium

Ailing Churchill Allowed Visitors

ROQUEBRUNE, France (AP)—Sir Winston Churchill smoked a cigar today with the first visitor he has been allowed since he came down with pneumonia and pleurisy a week ago.

Pierre Jean Moatti, the local district governor, and his wife called at the Riviera villa where the British elder statesman is staying, to express their wishes for a speedy recovery.

The daily medical bulletin said the 83-year-old former prime minister's pneumonia "continues to resolve." Sir Winston's general condition is satisfactory, and the pleurisy is causing him less discomfort.

ium diffusion works in Pike County.

Munger said there were eight to 10 pickets at the plant. Asked if everything was peaceful, he replied, "everything's lovely."

James G. Cox, an OVEC administrative assistant, said about 35 workers left the night shift at 11 p. m. He said 35 others due at midnight did not show up.

"THE PLANT is being operated by supervisory personnel and they will continue to operate it," said Cox.

Today, Gallia County Common Pleas Judge Robert M. Betz issued a temporary restraining order governing conduct of pickets and the union in general during the strike. The order was granted on petition of the OVEC. A hearing on the order was set by the judge for 10 a. m. Wednesday.

The seven-point injunction enjoins Local 430 of the UWUA from interfering with persons leaving or entering the plant, either through violence or threatening language.

It orders peaceful picketing and specifies that not more than four pickets shall be posted at any entrance to the plant.

The UWUA represents 193 workers at Kyger Creek and about 9,000 of the 15,000 union members employed by the 15 sponsoring companies, Munger said.

The International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers (IBEW), which like UWUA is affiliated with the AFL-CIO, has about 4,000 members working at the sponsoring companies, Munger said.

However, an IBEW spokesman in Cincinnati had said earlier that in event of a strike at the sponsoring companies his union members would not honor UWUA picket lines but would observe their contract.

NEGOTIATIONS between the UWUA and OVEC broke off Friday night. Then Sunday Federal Mediator George H. Bell left the scene, saying the two sides were so far apart, there was no avenue open for negotiation of the differences.

Munger said the union wants a new one-year contract to include a 6 per cent wage boost amounting to a little more than 12 cents an hour on an average base rate of about $2 hourly. He said other demands are for improvements in vacations and shift differentials.

Cox said the company could not give an immediate wage hike, adding that it had given employees a 5 1/2 per cent increase last Sept. 1. But he said the company would agree to a contract clause for a wage reopeners in the near future.

Leftist Wins Presidency in Argentine Vote

Support by Peronists
Seen as Big Factor
In Landslide Victory

BUENOS AIRES (AP)—Gaunt, bespectacled Arturo Frondizi, a left-wing intellectual, is the new president-elect of Argentina. The support of banished dictator Juan D. Peron apparently was a decisive factor in his landslide victory.

Frondizi ran far ahead of middle-of-the-road Ricardo Balbin in Argentina's first free presidential election in more than a decade. Nine other opponents trailed still farther behind.

Both are attorneys and represent left and right wings of the Radical party — a conservative group despite its name. Balbin ran for president against Peron in 1952 and Frondizi was No. 2 man on the ticket.

Frondizi's Radical party collected votes from many of the strong-arm segments of Argentina's political spectrum this time. His backers ranged from Communists to Labor to Peronists and Fascist splinter parties.

With more than eight million Argentines voting, unofficial figures early today gave Frondizi 2,617,454 votes, Balbin 1,446,146.

DURING HIS campaign Frondizi pledged amnesty for all Peronists and that "includes everybody." But he never specifically included Peron, which raised speculation whether Frondizi would let the banished dictator come back.

Sunday night Frondizi said the first job of the new Congress would be to enact a general amnesty law covering all parties and including those now in jail for their politics.

From his refuge in the Dominican Republic, Peron hailed Frondizi's victory as the result of the implied support he gave him.

Peron said he would consider a return to his homeland, but planned a trip "to rest" first. He did not elaborate.

Peron claimed the election did not really represent the majority view because Peronists were banned from campaigning or running under their true colors.

"We Peronists know what we want and march straight to its execution," the banished dictator said. "Each Peronist has his instructions and their leaders the directives to fulfill them."

Frondizi courted the Peronists openly during the campaign. He professed surprise when the Communists withdrew their candidates and threw their support to him and denied ever having any "direct or indirect" contact with the Reds.

The Electoral College meets March 17 to elect Frondizi president formally. The new members of the federal House and Senate meet March 31, and Frondizi will be sworn in May 1.

Dr. H. H. Swope, Pickaway County Deputy Coroner, said Eldridge died of a broken neck. He said death probably came instantly.

Sheriff Charles H. Radcliff said Eldridge was pinned inside the car several minutes before he and his deputies were able to free him from the wreckage. The sheriff and several volunteers finally freed the victim by pushing the car onto its wheels by hand.

According to Deputy Sheriff Robert Hoover, Mettler's car, headed east, attempted to pass an auto driven by Gerald Chase, 45, Route 4. The crash came before Mettler could get back into his own lane of traffic, Hoover said.

THE IMPACT slightly damaged the left rear of Chase's car, but he was able to keep the vehicle on the road. The other two cars were demolished.

Deputies Dwight Radcliff and Hoover said the left front of both cars collided. The Eldridge auto veered off the road, smashed into a tree, then traveled a few feet further and rolled over against another tree.

The deputies said Mettler's car skidded around and came to a halt facing the opposite direction.

Defenbaugh's ambulance, on the way back from Stark County with a body, removed the victim to the funeral home. Other ambulances were dispatched for the teenagers.

Mettler told Hoover that he started to pass the car in front when he failed to see any cars coming from the opposite direction. The driver said when he was about halfway around the car he suddenly saw headlights approximately 20 to 25 feet in front of him.

Mettler said he then tramped down on the gas pedal in an effort to get around the other car. He said the last he could remember was the crash.

Stock Mart Is Sluggish, Shows Decline

NEW YORK (AP)—A sluggish stock market declined unevenly early this afternoon.

Losses of fractions to a point among key stocks were relieved by a scattering of gains in about the same range.

The market assumed its slightly lower tone in a moderately active opening and maintained it in uneventful transactions.

Motors, aircrafts, chemicals, rails, oils and distillers took small losses. Steels, base metals, utilities, radio-televisions and building materials had an irregular edge to the upside.

Corporate news remained spotty and there was little encouraging in the latest batch of economic news.

Radio Corp. dropped a fraction following Friday's news of the anti-trust indictment against the firm.

Zenith moved ahead around three points. Gains of about a point were made by Youngstown Sheet and Kennecott.

Du Pont and Caterpillar were off around a point each. National Steel was down a fraction as it cut its dividend to 75 cents from $1.00.

U. S. government bonds were steady to higher.

Students Today Said Superior

Educators Given
Past Comparison

ST. LOUIS (AP)—A Purdue University official says today's high school students are in many ways superior in achievement to those of former times.

In a paper delivered at a regional convention of 9,000 public school administrators, J. R. Mitchell said comparing schools of past and present is like "comparing the first Wright airplane with a modern jet transport."

However, he said, tests indicate "today's high school students compare favorably with, and are in many ways superior in achievement to, those of former times. The college-bound youth is as well prepared as his counterpart of previous years and the superior student is much better prepared."

The big difference, Mitchell said, is not in the student but in the type of education he's getting. Years ago only the brightest went beyond the eighth grade. Now practically all do.

YEARS AGO, the program of courses was strictly limited. Now it covers a wide variety of academic and vocational subjects.

A committee that has been working on the problem for two years reported the real trouble with high school education is the outmoded school district organization.

Many of the nation's small school districts must combine, the committee said, because they can't build and staff high schools capable of giving American children the education they need.

wrist. He was reported in good condition today.

Schlegler was treated at the hospital for lacerations and abrasions and released.

Dr. H. H. Swope, Pickaway County Deputy Coroner, said Eldridge died of a broken neck. He said death probably came instantly.

Sheriff Charles H. Radcliff said Eldridge was pinned inside the car several minutes before he and his deputies were able to free him from the wreckage. The sheriff and several volunteers finally freed the victim by pushing the car onto its wheels by hand.

According to Deputy Sheriff Robert Hoover, Mettler's car, headed east, attempted to pass an auto driven by Gerald Chase, 45, Route 4. The crash came before Mettler could get back into his own lane of traffic, Hoover said.

THE IMPACT slightly damaged the left rear of Chase's car, but he was able to keep the vehicle on the road. The other two cars were demolished.

Deputies Dwight Radcliff and Hoover said the left front of both cars collided. The Eldridge auto veered off the road, smashed into a tree, then traveled a few feet further and rolled over against another tree.

The deputies said Mettler's car skidded around and came to a halt facing the opposite direction.

Defenbaugh's ambulance, on the way back from Stark County with a body, removed the victim to the funeral home. Other ambulances were dispatched for the teenagers.

Mettler told Hoover that he started to pass the car in front when he failed to see any cars coming from the opposite direction. The driver said when he was about halfway around the car he suddenly saw headlights approximately 20 to 25 feet in front of him.

Mettler said he then tramped down on the gas pedal in an effort to get around the other car. He said the last he could remember was the crash.

GOP Chiefs Fear Taft Vote To Embarrass Gov. O'Neill

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Reaction of some voters to Charles P. Taft's visit with Gov. C. William O'Neill apparently created an unexpected reelection hazard for the governor to counter.

Comments indicate concern lest O'Neill's heart attack a month ago may have been more serious than reported despite assurances that, by following physicians' orders, he will be "good as new."

That concern followed refusal of Taft, the 1952 GOP nominee for governor, to withdraw from the Republican primary of next May 6.

Widely published predictions led many to expect that the Cincinnati councilman and former mayor would abandon his self-appointed role of "standby" gubernatorial candidate.

"I'm going to leave my name in," Taft announced after seeing O'Neill in the mansion. Political speculation spurted. Ignored were Taft's expressed reasons and his report that O'Neill "looked very well."

Taft reiterated his belief that the GOP state committee should not be permitted to pick a successor if O'Neill's health forced him to drop out as a candidate. Taft's candidacy deprives the committee of that power.

Taft also repeated earlier assurances that he would not "spend a penny" to campaign for himself. He expressed the hope that O'Neill would be nominated and reelected. Taft added that he help O'Neill if requested.

But Taft's observation that he became a candidate only because of the uncertainties resulting from O'Neill's heart attack apparently overshadowed his other remarks.

Politicians asserted Taft got the most publicity mileage out of the meeting with O'Neill. They wondered why the visit took place without advance assurance that

Taft would heed O'Neill's request to withdraw.

O'Neill told a press conference that Taft asked for the appointment after a meeting in Cincinnati with Everett H. Krueger Jr., public utilities commission chairman and confidant of the governor.

Taft said he explained his position but that Krueger did not ask him directly to step aside. He added that Krueger described himself as authorized to ask Taft to see the governor. Taft said he phoned the governor the day before the meeting to make the date.

GOP organization leaders, often ignored by O'Neill, felt the governor should have avoided a personal showdown with Taft. They attributed to the Cincinnati councilman some of the qualities of his late brother, U.S. Sen. Robert A. Taft, widely known for his ability to resist pressure.

The 60-year-old Taft is a founder of Cincinnati's Charterite faction, composed of Democrats and liberal-minded Republicans who dominated that city's council in recent years.

O'Neill has been assured his recovery will permit an active campaign. He promised the type of vote drive that has made him a formidable primary candidate and carried him to victory in every election race since his first bid for the legislature in 1938.

Party leaders express confidence that O'Neill will win nomination handily but they feel a sizeable Taft vote might embarrass the governor. Democrats could be expected to point to a heavy vote for Taft as a protest against O'Neill's administration that has been under fire almost from the start a year ago.

Benson Decides To Hold Line On Props for Feed Grains

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Benson has decided to hold the line on price support rates for four 1958 feed grain crops.

Under his flexible price support system, he could have justified a reduction in the rates.

He did not explain his decision. But it may have reflected a desire to avert a possible over-expansion in livestock production which might have followed lower feed prices.

Benson announced Friday that oats, rye, barley and sorghum grains will be supported at 70 per cent of parity, the same as last year. The dollars-and-cents rates differed a little, reflecting change in the parity prices.

Parity is a standard for measuring farm prices declared by law to be fair to farmers in relation to their costs.

The actual rates will be 61 cents a bushel for oats, the same as last year; 93 cents a bushel for barley compared with 95 cents last year; $1.10 a bushel for rye compared with $1.18 last year; and $1.83 a hundred pounds for sorghum grains compared with $1.86 last year.

The 1958 rate for soybeans, fast becoming a major crop in many parts of the country, will be unchanged from last year's $2.09 a bushel. But the flaxseed rate will be $2.78 a bushel com-

Irene Dunne Says Her Role As U.N. Aide Is 'Exciting'

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD (AP)—"It was much more exciting than acting, because you were taking part in real and important drama."

This was Irene Dunne's reaction to her recent experience as United States delegate to the United Nations General Assembly.

Now back in her Holmby Hills home, she paused in her busy life to reflect on her experiences in international diplomacy. Some of her reactions:

"The language of diplomacy is very careful and polite. Your opponents can sound just as pleasant as can be while they are quietly cutting your throat...."

"I have the greatest respect for the State Department career men who briefed the delegates and were with us all the time to explain our policy. Yet I think it is a healthy thing for layman to serve on the assembly each year. We come in full of enthusiasm to get things done—and sometimes we do accomplish things...."

"Yes, my having been in films did create a little notice. One day, one of the delegates came up and said, 'Oh, I hate you!' then he explained that he had stayed up until 1:30 in the morning, watching one of my old movies on TV. Even Andrei Gromyko said that he had seen me on TV...."

"When I made my first speech, I was amazed I wasn't nervous at all. Yet, when I make a TV or stage appearance, I shake all over...."

"I came away greatly impressed with the work the U. N. does in its limited field — and it does have certain limits. I think we averted a serious situation in Syria, which might have been much worse without a forum to hear it...."

"And I'm much impressed with the work the U. N. agencies do. I'm especially interested in UNICEF's work with children. And the Health Organization, which has found it can control the dread disease yaws with a five-cent injection of penicillin. I might add that Russia doesn't contribute one ruble to the organization...."

Since her return, she has spoken to student and other groups about the U. N. Next month she goes to Hawaii to address a $100-a-plate dinner for the Republican party. I asked her about her acting career.

"Sure, I'd like to do something if the right thing comes along," she said. "But I'm afraid the movies are limited now to only the super-special epics. We've kicked around all kinds of ideas for a TV series, but never come up with one that intrigued me. I'm not sure I want to get into that grind."

GOP Chiefs Fear Taft Vote To Embarrass Gov. O'Neill

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Reaction of some voters to Charles P. Taft's visit with Gov. C. William O'Neill apparently created an unexpected reelection hazard for the governor to counter.

Comments indicate concern lest O'Neill's heart attack a month ago may have been more serious than reported despite assurances that, by following physicians' orders, he will be "good as new."

That concern followed refusal of Taft, the 1952 GOP nominee for governor, to withdraw from the Republican primary of next May 6.

Widely published predictions led many to expect that the Cincinnati councilman and former mayor would abandon his self-appointed role of "standby" gubernatorial candidate.

"I'm going to leave my name in," Taft announced after seeing O'Neill in the mansion. Political speculation spurted. Ignored were Taft's expressed reasons and his report that O'Neill "looked very well."

Taft reiterated his belief that the GOP state committee should not be permitted to pick a successor if O'Neill's health forced him to drop out as a candidate. Taft's candidacy deprives the committee of that power.

Taft also repeated earlier assurances that he would not "spend a penny" to campaign for himself. He expressed the hope that O'Neill would be nominated and reelected. Taft added that he help O'Neill if requested.

But Taft's observation that he became a candidate only because of the uncertainties resulting from O'Neill's heart attack apparently overshadowed his other remarks.

Politicians asserted Taft got the most publicity mileage out of the meeting with O'Neill. They wondered why the visit took place without advance assurance that

Taft would heed O'Neill's request to withdraw.

O'Neill told a press conference that Taft asked for the appointment after a meeting in Cincinnati with Everett H. Krueger Jr., public utilities commission chairman and confidant of the governor.

Taft said he explained his position but that Krueger did not ask him directly to step aside. He added that Krueger described himself as authorized to ask Taft to see the governor. Taft said he phoned the governor the day before the meeting to make the date.

GOP organization leaders, often ignored by O'Neill, felt the governor should have avoided a personal showdown with Taft. They attributed to the Cincinnati councilman some of the qualities of his late brother, U.S. Sen. Robert A. Taft, widely known for his ability to resist pressure.

The 69-year-old Taft is a founder of Cincinnati's Charterite faction, composed of Democrats and liberal-minded Republicans who dominated that city's council in recent years.

O'Neill has been assured his recovery will permit an active campaign. He promised the type of vote drive that has made him a formidable primary candidate and carried him to victory in every election race since his first bid for the legislature in 1938.

Party leaders express confidence that O'Neill will win nomination handily but they feel a sizeable Taft vote might embarrass the governor. Democrats could be expected to point to a heavy vote for Taft as a protest against O'Neill's administration that has been under fire almost from the start a year ago.

Benson Decides To Hold Line On Props for Feed Grains

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Benson has decided to hold the line on price support rates for four 1958 feed grain crops.

Under his flexible price support system, he could have justified a reduction in the rates.

He did not explain his decision. But it may have reflected a desire to avert a possible over-expansion in livestock production which might have followed lower feed prices.

Benson announced Friday that oats, rye, barley and sorghum grains will be supported at 70 per cent of parity, the same as last year. The dollars-and-cents rates differed a little, reflecting change in the parity prices.

Parity is a standard for measuring farm prices declared by law to be fair to farmers in relation to their costs.

The actual rates will be 61 cents a bushel for oats, the same as last year; 93 cents a bushel for barley compared with 95 cents last year; $1.10 a bushel for rye compared with $1.18 last year; and $1.83 a hundred pounds for sorghum grains compared with $1.86 last year.

The 1958 rate for soybeans, fast becoming a major crop in many parts of the country, will be unchanged from last year's $2.09 a bushel. But the flaxseed rate will be $2.78 a bushel com-

Teachers Need To Know More

A scientist has put his finger on one weak spot in American education which most educators carefully skirt. Dr. Samuel K. Allison, director of the Enrico Fermi Institute for Nuclear Studies at the University of Chicago, deplors the lack of interesting teaching in his field of physics, both in high schools and colleges.

He makes this highly interesting comment:

"A recent survey in one large California city showed that there were almost no physics teachers in the high schools who had ever had a college course in physics. They had all gone to teachers' colleges and taken courses in 'How to Teach Physics' but that was all. How can such teaching inspire students to go into the field?"

That is not the first time the curriculum of teachers' colleges has come in for criticism. But since educators hesitate to berate their alma maters, little attention has been paid.

The criticism is that too much emphasis is placed on the "how" courses and not enough on the "what" subjects. Methods courses are essential for teachers, but open-minded teachers will agree that in too many cases methods courses are piled on methods courses, almost to the exclusion of the courses in basic subjects which the future teacher may need.

Through the years in efforts to upgrade the teaching profession, more and more emphasis has been placed on higher degrees—with position and pay often depending on the number of degrees acquired. Yet often the additional training consists of more methods courses instead of a deeper delving into the subjects actually taught by the teacher.

As the American public takes the longer, harder post-sputnik look at education which teachers and school administrators themselves are encouraging, the educators may be embarrassed at evidence turned up of the shaky foundations too many teachers have in the very subjects they are employed to teach.

The public, which is insisting now that students be given hard work in basic subjects, may commence demanding that teachers do the same.

Horror of Double Taxation

By George Sokolsky

One problem that must be solved sooner or later is the relationship between federal and state taxation. The federal government takes so large a share, what with income and payroll taxes and excises that state and municipal governments find themselves hamstrung. Local taxpayers realize that the load is getting too heavy and no politician desires to add the straw that will break the camel's back.

When one realizes, for instance, that in 1957 the Federal government took out of New York State, $15,000,000,000 and put back into the state, $289,000,000, it is truly a frightening situation. The reason, for instance, that so many educators want federal aid for education, which ultimately will mean control of education, is the federal taxes being so high, the states and municipalities are running short of money for this and all other services.

Way back in 1910, Sen. Harry F. Byrd's father, Richard E. Byrd, Speaker of the House of Delegates of Virginia, opposed the income tax and the State of Virginia did not ratify the 16th Amendment. Speaker Byrd, with rare prophetic vision, foresaw what this tax would do and what he then said has come to happen. He said:

"It (the 16th Amendment) means that the state must give up a legitimate and long established source of revenue and yield it to the federal government."

"It means that the state actually invites the federal government to invade its territory, to oust its jurisdiction and to establish federal dominion within the innermost citadel of reserved rights of the commonwealth."

"This amendment will do what even the 14th and 15th Amendments did not do—it will extend the federal power so as to reach the citizen in the ordinary business of life. A hand from Washington will be stretched out and placed upon every man's business; the eye of a federal inspector will be in every man's counting house."

"The law will of necessity have inquisitorial features, it will provide penalties. It will create a complicated machinery."

"Under it businessmen will be hauled into courts distant from their homes."

"Heavy fines imposed by distant and unfamiliar tribunals will constantly menace the taxpayer."

"An army of federal inspectors, spies and detectives will descend upon the state. They will compel men of business to show their books and disclose the secrets of their affairs. They will dictate forms of bookkeeping. They will require statements and affidavits. On the one hand the inspector can blackmail the taxpayer and on the other, he can profit by selling his secret to his competitor."

"When the federal government gets a strangle hold on the individual businessman, state lines will exist nowhere but on the maps. Its agents will everywhere supervise the commercial life of the states. I am not willing by any voluntary act to give up revenue which the State of Virginia herself needs, nor to surrender that measure of states' rights."

To this, one only needs to add a few sentences of the Declaration of Independence, written by another and earlier Virginian, Thomas Jefferson:

"He has erected a multitude of New Offices, and sent hither swarms of Officers to harass our People, and to eat out their substance."

It is surprising that the meet-

LAFF-A-DAY

New Techniques May Outdate Need for False Dentures

By Herman N. Bundesen, M.D.

It is now possible for some of you to grow another tooth. Or, to be more accurate, to grow one of your own teeth in another spot.

Perhaps you read recently how two oral pathologists at the University of California transplanted a tooth from one part of a patient's mouth to another. But I wonder if you realize the significance of this discovery.

Right now, the transplantation technique is successful only in certain carefully selected cases. But, in time, who knows what our dentists may be able to do?

False dentures may be outdated before too long. We may be able to grow our own teeth to fill the vacancy left by decayed teeth which have to be removed.

Transplantation, the most recent milestone in dentistry, was accomplished by Dr. Chester C. Fong and Dr. R. Gordon Agnew, scientists at the university's College of Dentistry.

In this unique surgical technique, they shifted a third molar, or so-called wisdom tooth, to the site of a missing permanent first molar.

This particular type of transplantation is extremely important, since the loss of a permanent first molar, without some kind of replacement, can produce harmful results. First permanent molars, you see, are the first permanent teeth to appear in a youngster's mouth, usually erupting when the child is about six years old.

They are often referred to as the keystone of the dental arch since they affect the alignment of the rest of the teeth.

Loss of a first molar often is responsible for shifted and crowded teeth, chewing difficulties, diseases of the gums and painful jaw joints.

One of the secrets of successful transplantation is to move the good tooth to its new position in the early stage of root development.

At present, this limits the practice to children or teenagers, but it offers a promising prospect for the future.

Ageless Intellectual Vigor

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP)—All her life Helena Rubinstein has puzzled people by her ability to get so many things done.

Now in her 80s, this jet-haired, tiny lady business dynamo still travels incessantly and actively bosses a $25 million-a-year world wide cosmetics empire.

She has financial interests in 100 countries. She maintains three homes, and at one time had eight.

Here are her secrets:
"Keep healthy. And always do first the things you most dislike to do. With them out of the way, you then find you have plenty of time left to do what you want."

Madame Rubinstein is the epitome of the self-made woman. One of eight daughters of a Polish importer, she emigrated to Australia as a girl.

In her baggage were a dozen jars of homemade face cream given to her by her mother. That proved to be the basis of her fortune. After studying chemistry, she opened a beauty parlor, took in $100,000 the first year.

Although surrounded by the trappings of vast wealth, she has a down-to-earth attitude toward life and people. She never fidgets in making up her mind.

Recently, on one day's notice, she invested more than $1 million in signing as a sponsor for the new ABC-TV network show starring Sid Caesar and Imogene Coca—although she had never seen either performer.

The seat of her empire is a 26-room, three-floor Park Ave. penthouse with 12 bathrooms. She liked the apartment so well she cannily bought the whole building "so they couldn't raise my rent."

Gifted with an ageless intellectual vigor, Madame Rubinstein refuses to heed the pleas of her two sons to slow down. She has always enjoyed hard work, and feels many people today are spoiled because they don't know the real pleasure that lies in working.

Asked what she regarded as the greatest enemy of womanly beauty, Madame Rubinstein said crisply:

"Not time—laziness."

Ohio January Employment Level Shows Record Drop

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The January level of 3,011,000 non-agricultural employees in Ohio, down 4.5 per cent below December, was "the greatest December-to-January decline on record," the Ohio Bureau of Unemployment Compensation reported Saturday.

The bureau issued its January report on employment, hours and earnings with a breakdown on employment conditions in the state's eight metropolitan areas.

"Shrinkage due to lack of orders in manufacturing was responsible for the greater-than-usual decrease," the report said. It added that heavy seasonal losses also occurred in non-manufacturing industries. Average weekly earnings of factory production workers slipped from $92.95 in December, to $90.18 in January. Less overtime and curtailed work schedules cut the workweek one hour, to 38.3 in January.

Ohio manufacturing jobs totaled 1,243,000 in January, down 3.3 per cent from December. Durable goods, particularly steel, accounted for the largest decline. Employment drops in nondurable goods industries were not as severe as in durables, but almost equally widespread. The largest decline occurred in the rubber industry, because of reduced orders. Food, textile mill, and clothing industries fell off seasonally.

Non-manufacturing establishments in the state employed 1,768,000 in January, a drop of 5.3 per cent from December. Post-holiday losses were greatest in department and apparel stores and in the postal service. Seasonal factors similarly accounted for declines in construction and transportation.

In Canton, manufacturing employes totaled 52,000 in January, down 4.9 per cent from December. Nearly all layoffs were in durable goods and heaviest among makers of steel and non-electrical machinery. Average weekly earnings in manufacturing were down $4.50, to $86.40 in January as the workweek dropped 1.9 hours below December to 35.8.

Teachers Need To Know More

A scientist has put his finger on one weak spot in American education which most educators carefully skirt. Dr. Samuel K. Allison, director of the Enrico Fermi Institute for Nuclear Studies at the University of Chicago, deplors the lack of interesting teaching in his field of physics, both in high schools and colleges.

He makes this highly interesting comment:

"A recent survey in one large California city showed that there were almost no physics teachers in the high schools who had ever had a college course in physics. They had all gone to teachers' colleges and taken courses in 'How to Teach Physics' but that was all. How can such teaching inspire students to go into the field?"

That is not the first time the curriculum of teachers' colleges has come in for criticism. But since educators hesitate to berate their alma maters, little attention has been paid.

The criticism is that too much emphasis is placed on the "how" courses and not enough on the "what" subjects. Methods courses are essential for teachers, but open-minded teachers will agree that in too many cases methods courses are piled on methods courses, almost to the exclusion of the courses in basic subjects which the future teacher may need.

Through the years in efforts to upgrade the teaching profession, more and more emphasis has been placed on higher degrees—with position and pay often depending on the number of degrees acquired. Yet often the additional training consists of more methods courses instead of a deeper delving into the subjects actually taught by the teacher.

As the American public takes the longer, harder post-sputnik look at education which teachers and school administrators themselves are encouraging, the educators may be embarrassed at evidence turned up of the shaky foundations too many teachers have in the very subjects they are employed to teach.

The public, which is insisting now that students be given hard work in basic subjects, may comment demanding that teachers do the same.

Horror of Double Taxation

One problem that must be solved sooner or later is the relationship between federal and state taxation. The federal government takes so large a share, what with income and payroll taxes and excises that state and municipal governments find themselves hamstrung. Local taxpayers realize that the load is getting too heavy and no politician desires to add the straw that will break the camel's back.

When one realizes, for instance, that in 1957 the Federal government took out of New York State, $15,000,000,000 and put back into the state, $289,000,000, it is truly a frightening situation. The reason, for instance, that so many educators want federal aid for education, which ultimately will mean control of education, is the federal taxes being so high, the states and municipalities are running short of money for this and all other services.

Way back in 1910, Sen. Harry F. Byrd's father, Richard E. Byrd, Speaker of the House of Delegates of Virginia, opposed the income tax and the State of Virginia did not ratify the 16th Amendment. Speaker Byrd, with rare prophetic vision, foresaw what this tax would do and what he then said has come to happen. He said:

"It (the 16th Amendment) means that the state must give up a legitimate and long established source of revenue and yield it to the federal government."

"It means that the state actually invites the federal government to invade its territory, to oust its jurisdiction and to establish federal dominion within the innermost citadel of reserved rights of the commonwealth."

"This amendment will do what even the 14th and 15th Amendments did not do—it will extend the federal power so as to reach the citizen in the ordinary business of life. A hand from Washington will be stretched out and placed upon every man's business; the eye of a federal inspector will be in every man's counting house."

"The law will of necessity have inquisitorial features, it will provide penalties. It will create a complicated machinery."

"Under it businessmen will be hauled into courts distant from their homes."

"Heavy fines imposed by distant and unfamiliar tribunals will constantly menace the taxpayer."

"An army of federal inspectors, spies and detectives will descend upon the state. They will compel men of business to show their books and disclose the secrets of their affairs. They will dictate forms of bookkeeping. They will require statements and affidavits. On the one hand the inspector can blackmail the taxpayer and on the other, he can profit by selling his secret to his competitor."

"When the federal government gets a strangle hold on the individual businessman, state lines will exist nowhere but on the maps. Its agents will everywhere supervise the commercial life of the states. I am not willing by any voluntary act to give up revenue which the State of Virginia herself needs, nor to surrender that measure of states' rights."

To this, one only needs to add a few sentences of the Declaration of Independence, written by another and earlier Virginian, Thomas Jefferson:

"He has erected a multitude of New Offices, and sent hither swarms of Officers to harass our People, and to eat out their substance."

It is surprising that the meeting

New Techniques May Outdate Need for False Dentures

By Herman N. Bundesen, M.D.

It is now possible for some of you to grow another tooth. Or, to be more accurate, to grow one of your own teeth in another spot.

Perhaps you read recently how two oral pathologists at the University of California transplanted a tooth from one part of a patient's mouth to another. But I wonder if you realize the significance of this discovery.

Right now, the transplantation technique is successful only in certain carefully selected cases. But, in time, who knows what our dentists may be able to do?

False dentures may be outdated before too long. We may be able to grow our own teeth to fill the vacancy left by decayed teeth which have to be removed.

Transplantation, the most recent milestone in dentistry, was accomplished by Dr. Chester C. Fong and Dr. R. Gordon Agnew, scientists at the university's College of Dentistry.

In this unique surgical technique, they shifted a third molar, or so-called wisdom tooth, to the site of a missing permanent first molar.

This particular type of transplantation is extremely important, since the loss of a permanent first molar, without some kind of replacement, can produce harmful results. First permanent molars, you see, are the first permanent teeth to appear in a youngster's mouth, usually erupting when the child is about six years old.

They are often referred to as the keystone of the dental arch since they affect the alignment of the rest of the teeth.

Loss of a first molar often is responsible for shifted and crowded teeth, chewing difficulties, diseases of the gums and painful jaw joints.

One of the secrets of successful transplantation is to move the good tooth to its new position in the early stage of root development.

At present, this limits the practice to children or teenagers, but it offers a promising prospect for the future.

Ageless Intellectual Vigor

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP)—All her life Helena Rubinstein has puzzled people by her ability to get so many things done.

Now in her 80s, this jet-haired, tiny lady business dynamo still travels incessantly and actively bosses a $25 million-a-year world wide cosmetics empire.

She has financial interests in 100 countries. She maintains three homes, and at one time had eight.

Here are her secrets: "Keep healthy. And always do first the things you most dislike to do. With them out of the way, you then will find you have plenty of time left to do what you want."

Madame Rubinstein is the epitome of the self-made woman. One of eight daughters of a Polish importer, she emigrated to Australia as a girl.

In her baggage were a dozen jars of homemade face cream given to her by her mother. That proved to be the basis of her fortune. After studying chemistry, she opened a beauty parlor, took in $100,000 the first year.

Although surrounded by the trappings of vast wealth, she has a down-to-earth attitude toward life and people. She never fidgets in making up her mind.

Recently, on one day's notice, she invested more than $1 million in signing as a sponsor for the new ABC-TV network show starring Sid Caesar and Imogene Coca—although she had never seen either performer.

The seat of her empire is a 26-room, three-floor Park Ave. penthouse with 12 bathrooms. She liked the apartment so well she cannily bought the whole building "so they couldn't raise my rent."

Gifted with an ageless intellectual vigor, Madame Rubinstein refuses to heed the pleas of her two sons to slow down. She has always enjoyed hard work, and feels many people today are spoiled because they don't know the real pleasure that lies in working.

Asked what she regarded as the greatest enemy of womanly beauty, Madame Rubinstein said crisply:

"Not time—laziness."

Ohio January Employment Level Shows Record Drop

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The January level of 3,011,000 non-agricultural employees in Ohio, down 4.5 per cent below December, was "the greatest December-to-January decline on record," the Ohio Bureau of Unemployment Compensation reported Saturday.

The bureau issued its January report on employment, hours and earnings with a breakdown on employment conditions in the state's eight metropolitan areas.

"Shrinkage due to lack of orders in manufacturing was responsible for the greater-than-usual decrease," the report said. It added that heavy seasonal losses also occurred in non-manufacturing industries. Average weekly earnings of factory production workers slipped from $92.95 in December, to $90.18 in January. Less overtime and curtailed work schedules cut the workweek one hour, to 38.3 in January.

Ohio manufacturing jobs totaled 1,243,000 in January, down 3.3 per cent from December. Durable goods, particularly steel, accounted for the largest decline. Employment drops in nondurable goods industries were not as severe as in durables, but almost equally widespread. The largest decline occurred in the rubber industry, because of reduced orders. Food, textile mill, and clothing industries fell off seasonally.

Non-manufacturing establishments in the state employed 1,768,000 in January, a drop of 5.3 per cent from December. Post-holiday losses were greatest in department and apparel stores and in the postal service. Seasonal factors similarly accounted for declines in construction and transportation.

Trade Group Meetings Now Stimulating

Keen Sales Rivalry, Cost Cutting Need Boosting Interest

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst
NEW YORK (AP)—Today's era of keener sales rivalry and sense of urgency in cost cutting is mudding trade groups into more productive meetings.

The U.S. Department of Commerce lists more than 2,000 national and more than 10,000 regional trade associations, and conventioning has become a national pastime.

The new look to the economy is shifting the accent away from just contacts, whether in a night club or on the golf course, and toward results in improving sales methods and gaining cost cutting tips.

While they don't say so, some association executives have seen attendance slipping along with business in general. Hotel keepers have noted this, too. Some corporate treasurers seem to think that one way to cut costs is to trim trips to conventions.

To counteract this, associations are turning to new ways to make the meetings produce better results.

The Association Institute of New York lists 50 types of meetings aimed at getting the most out of the convention goer. Associations trying them say they get results.

Room hopping is the device used by the general agents and managers conference of the National Assn. of Life Underwriters. Ten to 15 different sessions are kept going in adjoining rooms with the speakers and panels fixed but the audience of convention goers roving from one to another.

The Trade Assn. Executives of New York try a switch on the panel session. The experts ask the questions for the audience to answer.

The National Congress of Parents and Teachers has each set of three persons in one row turn around and face the three immediately behind them. Each group of six so formed gets four minutes to think up a question for the entire meeting to discuss.

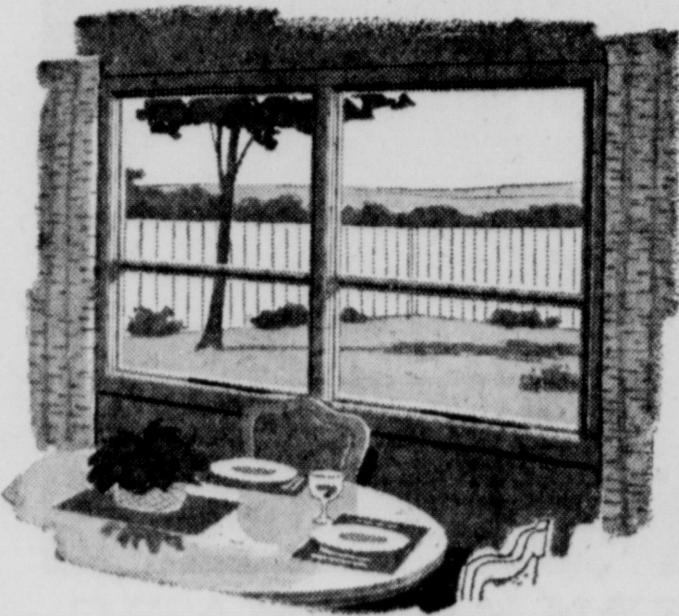

To stimulate the flow of new ideas at its annual meetings—and also the attendance—the National Restaurant Assn. devotes a session to the 10 best money making ideas, 10 most popular recipes and 10 most useful gadgets. These are all pre-gleaned from a survey of its members.

The thief called the snake farm Saturday and said he wanted the venom to protect himself against snakebite. But he hung up before he could be warned the venom in its present state is useless as an antidote but could kill up to 600 persons.

Hawaiian Muumuu Labeled Grandma of Today's Chemise

HONOLULU (AP)—The muumuu is an Hawaiian dress that looks like a nightgown, is built like a tent and has as much glamour as a potato sack.

For reasons unknown to men, women are crazy about them.

Every woman in Hawaii owns at least one muumuu. Most women have three or four.

They wear these drapeless shapes to go shopping, as house dresses, sports dresses, for the beach and for lounging.

The muumuu also makes an excellent maternity dress. Women here wear them also to parties and dances.

It is an old tradition to wear nothing beneath the muumuu. (There are no reliable statistics on how closely this tradition is observed. There are no reliable statistics either.)

The muumuu is said to be spreading to the American mainland, especially among college coeds and in the Hollywood movie colony ever since a film troupe was on location in Hawaii last year to make "South Pacific."

The muumuu dates back 138 years. It is an adaptation of the Mother Hubbard brought to Hawaii in 1820 by the wives of New England missionaries.

One legend says these women were shocked by the nude Polynesian girls and quickly covered them up with the sack-shaped Mother Hubbards.

Another tale — and take your choice — says the Hawaiian queens of the day were entranced by the free-flowing garments worn by the missionary wives and asked them to help make muumuus for their own use.

Because Hawaiian queens sometimes weighed as much as 300 pounds, the missionary wives fashioned Mother Hubbards of tent-size proportions. Once the other island women saw their queens in muumuus, the story goes, they rushed to make their own.

The present-day muumuus are all floor length and come with a variety of necklines. They are usually made up in bright Hawaiian prints. They range in price from $5 to $30.

Muumuus are usually worn with sandals on the feet and flowers in the hair. (Flowers worn behind the left ear indicate the girl is married or spoken for and behind the right ear, she's available and looking. Flowers worn on top of the head mean she's spoken for or married but looking anyway. No flowers mean a tourist.)

Polynesian men are said to prefer the muumuu to conventional, form-fitting dresses.

One Hawaiian says: "The muumuu keeps you guessing. It adds a touch of mystery to a woman and works on your imagination."

A somewhat different view is taken by Society Editor Betty Wilder of the Honolulu Star-Bulletin. She says: "Some people spell it muumuu. That's not surprising because it's big enough to cover a cow."

Miss Yoshi Sameshima, a fashion designer, says: "Hawaii is showing the fashion world that the islands had the chemise before Paris fashion experts came on the scene."

Jack Gillett, president of an organization known as the Waikiki Unmarried Bachelors' Association, says:

"The muumuu is charming and has its place."

He did not say what place.

A sampling of opinion in the U. S. Navy at Pearl Harbor boils down to this:

"The muumuu will never replace the grass skirt."

The World Today

WASHINGTON (AP)—Free enterprise has been an American myth since the first Congress in 1789 passed the first tariff act to protect businessmen and farmers from the competition of foreign goods.

They've kept it a limited free enterprise system ever since by seeking—in addition to various other government benefits—even broader tariff protection. It's an old story. And it's being renewed now.

In 1934, Congress passed the Reciprocal Trade Agreements Act as part of the Roosevelt New Deal effort to overcome the depression by getting world trade moving.

The act lets the President reduce the tariff on certain imports from other countries if they agree to do the same on certain imports from us. Presidents Roosevelt, Truman and Eisenhower all made it part of foreign policy.

This act has been re-passed, or extended, 10 times. Each time some American business or farm groups, claiming they were hurt by the foreign competition here, fought it. But it's a two-way argument.

Other business groups have boosted their profits by being able to sell abroad. And exports far exceed imports. Last year American exports amounted to 19½ billion dollars; imports were 13 billion.

This year Eisenhower asked Congress to extend the act—which otherwise expires June 30—another five years. He'll be lucky if he gets it extended for two. He has run into tough opposition.

For one thing, the present business recession is an added talking point for those who say they're being hurt by the incoming competition. And there's strong resistance in Congress.

None of the 10 Republicans on the House Ways and Means Committee—the starting point for the trade legislation—was anxious to sponsor Eisenhower's proposal. Some of the most powerful Republicans are against it. So are many Democrats.

A vital question is: How strongly will Eisenhower fight for it?

Pilot Is Hailed, Then Death Comes

VICI, Okla. (AP)—Vaughn White, 67, was the subject of a feature story in Sunday morning's Oklahoma City Daily Oklahoman. It told how the retired Kingfisher, Okla., farmer had logged some 1,300 hours of flying time in four years spotting coyotes.

Sunday afternoon White and Troy Stewart Jr., 22, of Omega, Okla., were killed when White's plane plunged into a field and burned southeast of here.

A witness said the men were following a coyote at about 50 feet of altitude when the plane attempted a sharp turn and fell.

"Mary Haworth's Mail"

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: I have a good wife—and mother of our child. There isn't anything she can't do—needlework, painting, decorating—carpentry. Also she holds a job to help me out; and turns over her paycheck to me without comment.

In our 10 years' marriage, she still greets me at the door with a kiss—not a peck. She loves me, I know; I can see it in her eyes—a look of love, deep inside affection, warm and good. And in turn I love her deeply.

The house is always clean, she keeps me well groomed; helps me take off my shoes, and on Sundays feeds me in bed. If I want to argue I can't get a fight out of her. She is great. But I am bothered by her love of flowers. Silly, isn't it?

She never asks for spending money, but if I give her any, she buys plants. We have plants in the kitchen, parlor, bathroom, dining room and bedrooms. I plan to build her a sun porch, just for plants.

If I give her money for a dress, she buys material—and spends the balance for a plant. I give her a few dollars in case the car needs repairs or gas; it goes for plants. I tried not giving her any money for three weeks once — except a dime now and then. She saved enough to buy a plant.

At Christmas I took her to shop for a fur coat, as my gift to her. She bought a fur coat, after arguing she could make one cheaper. On the way out, we passed through the plant department. She told me the history of every plant, and touched each one so lightly—as if they might break or something.

Her eyes had tears and she was happy as a child with Santa.

I led her away; and she changed from a laughing sunshine of a girl into a sad heartbroken one. She didn't argue or anything. She tried to laugh and joke but it wasn't the same. I felt like a heel. I felt even worse after she made my favorite cake and I couldn't eat it.

Can you, as a woman, tell me: Should I let her buy all the plants she wants? I questioned her once about her love for plants; and her reply was something like this:

"Plants are beauty; something perfect and pure that God has made; perfection that He only can make. A house without plants is an empty house. But a house with plants is a lived-in house that's bright and cheerful, full of love and beauty. If a plant dies I feel I have failed; if it lives and blooms I feel it is because of me, in some small way."

Should I let her buy all she wants? Or limit her as I do?

DEAR E.B.: It strikes me that you are just on the verge of spiritual rebirth—of combusting a spark of real love in your soul. Until now, you've been a clod in relation to your wonderful wife, who seems to have a nature and a disposition only a little lower than the angels'.

You are groping for counsel at this time because, unconsciously, you are depressed by guilt feelings, at having so selfishly and colossally failed to buy your wife a proper Christmas present — namely, her pick of the plants on display, in the store where you shopped for a coat.

Why is she so crazy about plants. Because she is a loving nature, and she can have a reciprocity relationship with plants—in the sense of seeing a return for her efforts of loving care invested. With you, she can't. You are such barren soil that no amount of cherishing has evoked any soul growth to speak of, thus far. You absorb love as a cat laps up cream, but you don't love back. You merely maintain a taking attitude. You are in fact so selfish that you are even jealous of your wife's love of plants.

Should you let her buy all the plants she wants? In heaven's name, yes. But also get down on your knees and implore God's help in learning to love her—with spiritual liveliness; and reverent tender appreciation; and daily generosity.

Trade Group Meetings Now Stimulating

Keen Sales Rivalry, Cost Cutting Need Boosting Interest

By SAM DAWSON

AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—Today's era of keener sales rivalry and sense of urgency in cost cutting is nudging trade groups into more productive meetings.

The U.S. Department of Commerce lists more than 2,000 national and more than 10,000 regional trade associations, and conventioning has become a national pastime.

The new look to the economy is shifting the accent away from just contacts, whether in a night club or on the golf course, and toward results in improving sales methods and gaining cost cutting tips.

While they don't say so, some association executives have seen attendance slipping along with business in general. Hotel keepers have noted this, too. Some corporate treasurers seem to think that one way to cut costs is to trim trips to conventions.

To counteract this, associations are turning to new ways to make the meetings produce better results.

The Association Institute of New York lists 50 types of meetings aimed at getting the most out of the convention goer. Associations trying them say they get results.

Room hopping is the device used by the general agents and managers conference of the National Assn. of Life Underwriters. Ten to 15 different sessions are kept going in adjoining rooms with the speakers and panels fixed but the audience of convention goers roving from one to another.

The Trade Assn. Executives of New York try a switch on the panel session. The experts ask the questions for the audience to answer.

The National Congress of Parents and Teachers has each set of three persons in one row turn around and face the three immediately behind them. Each group of six so formed gets four minutes to think up a question for the entire meeting to discuss.

To stimulate the flow of new ideas at its annual meetings—and also the attendance—the National Restaurant Assn. devotes a session to the 10 best money making ideas, 10 most popular recipes and 10 most useful gadgets. These are all pre-cleaned from a survey of its members.

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Miami's snake venom thief has 24 hours to return the goods or face the risk of prosecution.

That was the warning published in the Miami Herald today after $5,750 worth of poisonous venom disappeared from the Miami Serpenterium Friday.

The thief called the snake farm Saturday and said he wanted the venom to protect himself against snakebite. But he hung up before he could be warned the venom in its present state is useless as an antidote but could kill up to 600 persons.

Hawaiian Muumuu Labeled Grandma of Today's Chemise

HONOLULU (AP)—The muumuu is an Hawaiian dress that looks like a nightgown, is built like a tent and has as much glamour as a potato sack.

For reasons unknown to men, women are crazy about them. Every woman in Hawaii owns at least one muumuu. Most women have three or four.

They wear these drapeless shapes to go shopping, as house dresses, sports dresses, for the beach and for lounging.

The muumuu also makes an excellent maternity dress. Women here wear them also to parties and dances.

It is an old tradition to wear nothing beneath the muumuu. (There are no reliable statistics on how closely this tradition is observed. There are no unreliable statistics either.)

The muumuu vogue is said to be spreading to the American mainland, especially among college coeds and in the Hollywood movie colony ever since a film troupe was on location in Hawaii last year to make "South Pacific."

The muumuu dates back 138 years. It is an adaptation of the Mother Hubbard brought to Hawaii in 1820 by the wives of New England missionaries.

One legend says these women were shocked by the nude Polynesian girls and quickly covered them up with the sack-shaped Mother Hubbards.

Another tale — and take your choice — says the Hawaiian queens of the day were entranced by the free-flowing garments worn by the missionary wives and asked them to help make muumuus for their own use.

Because Hawaiian queens sometimes weighed as much as 300 pounds, the missionary wives fashioned Mother Hubbards of tent-size proportions. Once the other island women saw their queens in muumuus, the story goes, they rushed to make their own.

The present-day muumuus are all floor length and come with a variety of necklines. They are usually made up in bright Hawaiian prints. They range in price from $5 to $30.

Muumuus are usually worn with sandals on the feet and flowers in the hair. (Flowers worn behind the left ear indicate the girl is married or spoken for and behind the right ear, she's available and looking for a husband.) Flowers worn on top of the head mean she's spoken for or married but looking anyway. No flowers mean a tourist.

Polynesian men are said to prefer the muumuu to conventional, form-fitting dresses.

One Hawaiian says: "The muumuu keeps you guessing. It adds a touch of mystery to a woman and works on your imagination."

A somewhat different view is taken by Society Editor Betty Wilder of the Honolulu Star-Bulletin. She says: "Some people spell it muumoo. That's not surprising because it's big enough to cover a cow."

Miss Yoshi Sameshima, a fashion designer, says: "Hawaii is showing the fashion world that the islands had the chemise before Paris fashion experts came on the scene."

Jack Gillett, president of an organization known as the Waikiki Unmarried Bachelors' Association, says:

"The muumuu is charming and has its place."

He did not say what place. A sampling of opinion in the U. S. Navy at Pearl Harbor boils down to this:

"The muumuu will never replace the grass skirt."

The World Today

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON (AP)—Free enterprise has been an American myth since the first tariff act in 1789 passed the first tariff act to protect businessmen and farmers from the competition of foreign goods.

They've kept it a limited free enterprise system ever since by seeking—in addition to various other government benefits—even broader tariff protection. It's an old story. And it's being renewed now.

In 1934, Congress passed the Reciprocal Trade Agreements Act as part of the Roosevelt New Deal effort to overcome the depression by getting world trade moving.

The act lets the President reduce the tariff on certain imports from other countries if they agree to do the same on certain imports from us. Presidents Roosevelt, Truman and Eisenhower all made it part of foreign policy.

This act has been re-passed, or extended, 10 times. Each time some American business or farm groups, claiming they were hurt by the foreign competition here, fought it. But it's a two-way argument.

Other business groups have boosted their profits by being able to sell abroad. And exports far exceed imports. Last year American exports amounted to 19½ billion dollars; imports were 13 billion.

This year Eisenhower asked Congress to extend the act—which otherwise expires June 30—another five years. He'll be lucky if he gets it extended for two. He has run into tough opposition.

For one thing, the present business recession is an added talking point for those who say they're being hurt by the incoming competition. And there's strong resistance in Congress.

None of the 10 Republicans on the House Ways and Means Committee—the starting point for the trade legislation—was anxious to sponsor Eisenhower's proposal. Some of the most powerful Republicans are against it. So are many Democrats.

A vital question is: How strong will Eisenhower fight for it?

Pilot Is Hailed, Then Death Comes

VICI, Okla. (AP)—Vaughn White, 67, was the subject of a feature story in Sunday morning's Oklahoma City Daily Oklahoman. It told how the retired Kingfisher, Okla., farmer had logged some 1,300 hours of flying time in four years spotting coyotes.

Sunday afternoon White and Troy Stewart Jr., 22, of Omega, Okla., were killed when White's plane plunged into a field and burned southeast of here.

A witness said the men were following a coyote at about 50 feet of altitude when the plane attempted a sharp turn and fell.

Already there are signs of weakening. Secretary of Commerce Weeks, while making a vigorous pitch for the act, nevertheless said the administration is "certainly" willing to talk about changes or amendments.

One committee member, Rep. McCarthy (D-Minn.), said this was like an act of surrender before the fighting started. The key point in the fight will revolve around the powers of the U.S. Tariff Commission.

Under present law if an American business feels it is being hurt by a certain foreign import, it can appeal to the commission to raise the tariff on that item. The commission can't do the raising by itself. It can only recommend that the President do so.

He's free to suit himself, after deciding the effect of this one action on American foreign policy and foreign trade in general.

Reciprocal trade foes want this kind of change made: Take the President's discretionary power away and let a Tariff Commission approval of a tariff boost become final unless Congress intervenes.

But Congress almost certainly would do nothing. So, while the President wanted tariffs lowered, the commission could raise them. In effect, this would shift control from the White House to Congress.

That would just about end reciprocal trade agreements.

"Mary Haworth's Mail"

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: I have a good wife—and mother of our child. There isn't anything she can't do—needlework, painting, decorating, carpentry. Also she holds a job to help me out; and turns over her paycheck to me without comment.

In our 10 years' marriage, she still greets me at the door with a kiss—not a peck. She loves me, I know; I can see it in her eyes—a look of love, deep inside affection, warm and good. And in turn I love her deeply.

The house is always clean, she keeps me well groomed; helps me take off my shoes, and on Sundays feeds me in bed. If I want to argue I can't get a fight out of her. She is great. But I am bothered by her love of flowers. Silly, isn't it?

She never asks for spending money, but if I give her any, she buys plants. We have plants in the kitchen, parlor, bathroom, dining room and bedrooms. I plan to build her a sun porch, just for plants.

If I give her money for a dress, she buys material—and spends the balance for a plant. I give her a few dollars in case the car needs repairs or gas; it goes for plants. I tried not giving her any money for three weeks once — except a dime now and then. She saved enough to buy a plant.

At Christmas I took her to shop for a fur coat, as my gift to her. She bought a fur coat, after arguing she could make one cheaper. On the way out, we passed through the plant department. She told me the history of every plant, and touched each one so lightly—as if they might break or something.

Her eyes had tears and she was happy as a child with Santa.

I led her away; and she changed from a laughing sunshine of a girl into a sad heartbroken one. She didn't argue or anything. She tried to laugh and joke but it wasn't the same. I felt like a heel. I felt even worse after she made my favorite cake and I couldn't eat it.

Can you, as a woman, tell me: Should I let her buy all the plants she wants? I questioned her once about her love for plants; and her reply was something like this:

"Plants are beauty; something perfect and pure that God has made. A house without plants is an empty house. But a house with plants is a lived-in house that's bright and cheerful, full of love and beauty. If a plant dies I feel I have failed; if it lives and blooms I feel it is because of me, in some small way."

Should I let her buy all she wants? Or limit her as I do?

DEAR E.B.: It strikes me that you are just on the verge of spiritual rebirth—of combusting a spark of real love in your soul. Until now, you've been a clod in relation to your wonderful wife, who seems to have a nature and a disposition only a little lower than the angels.

You are groping for counsel at this time because, unconsciously, you are depressed by guilt feelings, at having so selfishly and colossal failed to buy your wife a proper Christmas present — namely, her pick of the plants on display, in the store where you shopped for a coat.

Why is she so crazy about plants. Because she is a loving nature, and she can have a reciprocity relationship with plants—in the sense of seeing a return for her efforts of loving care invested. With you, she can't. You are such barren soil that no amount of cherishing has evoked any soul growth to speak of, thus far. You absorb love as a cat laps up cream, but you don't love back. You merely maintain a taking attitude. You are in fact so selfish that you are even jealous of your wife's love of plants.

Should you let her buy all the plants she wants? In heaven's name, yes. But also get down on your knees and implore God's help in learning to love her—with spiritual liveness; and reverent tender appreciation; and daily generosity.

M. H. Mary Haworth counsels through her column, not by mail or personal interview. Write her in care of this newspaper.

Household Hints

There are two cups of rice in a pound; when the rice is cooked it yields 6 to 8 cups. The cooking method helps determine this yield.

When an old-fashioned recipe calls for half a pound of raisins, use 1 1/4 cups. Rinse the raisins in hot water and drain well before using in cakes and cookies.

Thickening a sauce? One tablespoon of cornstarch is the equivalent of two tablespoons of flour.

Four cups of shredded cabbage will yield about 2 cups after cooking. This applies to both the red and green varieties.

Big Ten Basketball Race Could Be Settled Tonight

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Big Ten basketball race, which has been scrambled all season, could be all but settled tonight—or it could revert back to a four-way dogfight.

It depends on how the Purdue-Michigan State game turns out. A victory for the Spartans, and they can start making plans for the NCAA postseason tournament.

If Purdue (which hasn't won the league title since 1940) comes out on top, it's a new race between the Boilermakers, Michigan State, Indiana and Iowa.

The Big Ten isn't the only conference with important business on the agenda for tonight.

The little Ohio Valley Conference race could be settled. All Tennessee Tech has to do is lick Murray State and it gets an automatic ticket to the NCAA tourney.

If Kansas wants to maintain any hope at all (and it's practically nil) of overtaking Kansas State in the Big Eight, the Jayhawks must get by Iowa State.

California, the favorite, can pull a game and a half in front in the Pacific Coast Conference by taking care of Oregon. Oregon State is the only team with a chance of overtaking the Bears.

In the Atlantic Coast, Duke can clinch at least a tie by beating Virginia tomorrow night. The Blue Devils have their big date Friday night when they play North Carolina, the defending league and NCAA champions.

Cincinnati, in its first year in the Missouri Valley, needs only one triumph in its two games this week—against St. Louis Wednesday and Wichita Saturday — to clinch a tie. Bradley still is hoping, but its a faint hope.

Miami of Ohio also needs one victory in its two games of the week and it can do no worse than tie for the Mid-American. Dick Shriver's lads should have no trouble with Marshall Wednesday and Kent State Friday.

San Francisco, of course, is a certainty to win the West Coast while Temple (Mid-Atlantic), Connecticut (Yankee), Kentucky (Southeastern) and Idaho State (Rocky Mountain) already are in the NCAA Tournament. Five at large teams — Oklahoma State, Notre Dame, Pitt, Manhattan and Boston College—also have been selected.

As for the National Invitation Tournament, half of the 12-team field has been determined. St. Bonaventure, Niagara, Dayton, St. Peter's (N.J.), Fordham and St. John's are in.

Centralia Drops Ross Title Contest to Unioto, 63-48

By J. I. Smith
Herald Staff Writer

The Shermans of Unioto continued their jinx of the Centralia Bulldogs Saturday night as they downed the Bulldogs for the third time this year to win the Ross County tournament title, 63-48.

Unioto, for the second straight year, defeated the Bulldogs for the title.

Centralia's Floyd Myers fouled out for the first time this year with one minute left in the contest as Centralia trailed 56-46 and the Bulldogs lost all hope of winning. The Bulldogs also lost their other big man Bob Whitsel via the foul route.

For the three quarters it was any one's ball game as the lead traded hands nine times before Unioto took the lead for good. The contest was tied up seven different times during the evening.

In the first quarter Centralia took command and led 13-10 at the first quarter mark. The second quarter was a reverse of the first as Unioto took over the margin and had Centralia fighting to stay even. Centralia fought the taller Shermans tooth and nail, finally taking a 26-24 lead at halftime. Unioto suffered a floor slump in this period and shot a poor 16 per cent, while Centralia meshed five buckets in 20 shots for 25 per cent.

THE BULLDOGS should have stayed in the lockerooms at halftime for Unioto tied up the game, took the lead, and never relented. Centralia lost the services of its tall forward Whitsel for most of the second half as he received his fourth personal early in the third period and left the game.

Unioto led 39-36 at the end of the third quarter and the Neff brothers kept bagging long set shots from all over the court. Whenever the Bulldogs pulled out to hamper their shooting the rebounding of Workman and the jump shooting of Slater blasted the Bulldogs for damaging points.

The final period was all Unioto

as they outscored the Bulldogs 24-12 for victory No. 18 against three defeats. Shaw injured his ankle late in the previous period and his effectiveness with his favorite jump shot was nil. Myers and Whitsel were on the bench and Centralia was left with little men while Unioto continued to dominate the boards and pulled several fast breaks on the Bulldogs.

Centralia shot 24 per cent from the floor for the evening hitting 16 of 65 shots.

Unioto, with one of the tallest teams in central Ohio, shot 35 per cent from the field sending 22 field goals through the hoops on 62 attempts. From the charity line they shot 57 per cent making 19 of 33 opportunities.

Charlie Neff, with his deadly corner set shots led the scoring for the two teams with 17 points followed by teammate Slater with 16 and brother Wayne with 15. Centralia's Shaw tallied 15 points and Myers had 10. Centralia entered tournament play with a 15-5 record.

In the consolation game the Huntington Huntsmen grabbed a narrow 59-55 victory over little Twin. Huntington led the first half, 24-20, after taking a 14-4 first quarter lead. In the third period the Huntsmen continued to drop by the wayside as they couldn't prevent Twin from tying up the game, 41-41, at the third quarter mark.

In the fourth period they held on for the close victory.

IN THE SOUTHEASTERN district drawings yesterday at Pike-ton the Centralia Bulldogs will face Sinking Springs, 11-7, of Highland County. The game will be played at 8:30 p. m. Thursday at Pike-ton. Unioto drew the favorite of the district, New Boston, 19-1. Huntington drew the winner of the Bloomingburg - Jeffersonville game.

Centralia's Bobby Shaw and Floyd Myers were placed on the Ross All-County team Saturday night along with Kingston's Larry

Union Furnace Stops L'ville

Victors Win Tourney With 65-55 Decision

Union Furnace captured the Hocking County cage tournament Saturday night by downing Laurelville, 65-55.

The strong Union Furnace quintet also won the Hocking County League. Laurelville earned second place in the loop.

Coach Lonnie Miller's Wildcats made a valiant effort to deadlock things in the final period but couldn't overcome an 18-point lead compiled by the winners earlier in the contest.

UP bounded to a 19-8 first quarter lead and remained ahead, 36-24, at intermission. By the third quarter Union Furnace was out front 53-38, but Laurelville was far from finished.

PACED by little Gary Allen, the Wildcats put on a strong rally which threatened to change the picture. However, the winners retained enough stamina to cut Laurelville six points short of knotting the score.

Allen led all scorers for the evening with 20 points. Mickey Young collected 12 and rebounding specialist Tom Eveland fired for nine. Union Furnace had four men in double figures. Walters was high with 17, Smith collected 12 and Zimmerman and Shaw each posted 11.

Laurelville, seeded in its coming district tournament at Wells-ton, is slated for its first game Saturday night.

The Wildcats will meet the winner of the contest between Union Furnace and the number one team in the Gallia County tourney, yet to be determined.

Big Ten Basketball Race Could Be Settled Tonight

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The Big Ten basketball race, which has been scrambled all season, could be all but settled tonight—or it could revert back to a four-way dogfight.

It depends on how the Purdue-Michigan State game turns out. A victory for the Spartans, and they can start making plans for the NCAA postseason tournament.

If Purdue (which hasn't won the league title since 1940) comes out on top, it's a new race between the Boilermakers, Michigan State, Indiana and Iowa.

The Big Ten isn't the only conference with important business on the agenda for tonight.

The little Ohio Valley Conference race could be settled. All Tennessee Tech has to do is lick Murray State and it gets an automatic ticket to the NCAA tourney.

If Kansas wants to maintain any hope at all (and it's practically nil) of overtaking Kansas State in the Big Eight, the Jayhawks must get by Iowa State.

California, the favorite, can pull a game and a half in front in the Pacific Coast Conference by taking care of Oregon. Oregon State is the only team with a chance of overtaking the Bears.

In the Atlantic Coast, Duke can clinch at least a tie by beating Virginia tomorrow night. The Blue Devils have their big date Friday night when they play North Carolina, the defending league and NCAA champions.

Cincinnati, in its first year in the Missouri Valley, needs only one triumph in its two games this week—against St. Louis Wednesday and Wichita Saturday—to clinch a tie. Bradley still is hoping, but it's a faint hope.

Miami of Ohio also needs one victory in its two games of the week and it can do no worse than tie for the Mid-American. Dick Shriber's lads should have no trouble with Marshall Wednesday and Kent State Friday.

San Francisco, of course, is a certainty to win the West Coast while Temple (Mid-Atlantic), Connecticut (Yankee), Kentucky (Southeastern) and Idaho State (Rocky Mountain) already are in the NCAA Tournament. Five at large teams—Oklahoma State, Notre Dame, Pitt, Manhattan and Boston College—also have been selected.

As for the National Invitation Tournament, half of the 12-team field has been determined. St. Bonaventure, Niagara, Dayton, St. Peter's (NJ), Fordham and St. John's are in.

The NIT also is interested in Sheriff's deputies later walked in with another attachment for $10,080 which Bill Spivey, former barnstormer with the team, claims is owed him for back pay.

Centralia Drops Ross Title Contest to Unioto, 63-48

By J. I. Smith
Herald Staff Writer

The Shermans of Unioto continued their jinx of the Centralia Bulldogs Saturday night as they downed the Bulldogs for the third time this year to win the Ross County tournament title, 63-48.

Unioto, for the second straight year, defeated the Bulldogs for the title.

Centralia's Floyd Myers fouled out for the first time this year with one minute left in the contest as Centralia trailed 56-46 and the Bulldogs lost all hope of winning. The Bulldogs also lost their other big man Bob Whitel who fouled out.

For the three quarters it was any one's ball game as the lead traded hands nine times before Unioto took the lead for good. The contest was tied up seven different times during the evening.

In the first quarter Centralia took command and led 13-0 at the first quarter mark. The second quarter was a reverse of the first as Unioto took over the margin and had Centralia fighting to stay even. Centralia fought the taller Shermans tooth and nail, finally taking a 26-24 lead at halftime. Unioto suffered a floor slump in this period and shot a poor 16 per cent, while Centralia meshed five buckets in 20 shots for 25 per cent.

THE BULLDOGS should have stayed in the lockerrooms at halftime for Unioto tied the game, took the lead, and never relented. Centralia lost the services of its tall forward Whitel for most of the second half as he received his fourth personal early in the third period and left the game.

Unioto led 39-36 at the end of the third quarter and the Neff brothers kept bagging long set shots from all over the court. Whenever the Bulldogs pulled out to hamper their shooting the rebounding of Workman and the jump shooting of Slater blasted the Bulldogs for damaging points.

The final period was all Unioto

as they outscored the Bulldogs 24-12 for victory No. 18 against 23 defeats. Shaw injured his ankle late in the previous period and his effectiveness with his favorite jump shot was nil. Myers and Whitel were on the bench and Centralia was left with little men while Unioto continued to dominate the boards and pulled several fast breaks on the Bulldogs.

Centralia shot 24 per cent from the floor for the evening hitting 16 of 65 shots.

Unioto, with one of the tallest teams in central Ohio, shot 35 per cent from the field sending 22 field goals through the hoops on 62 attempts. From the charity line they shot 57 per cent making 19 of 33 opportunities.

Charlie Neff, with his deadly corner set shots led the scoring for the two teams with 17 points followed by teammate Slater with 16 and brother Wayne with 15. Centralia's Shaw tallied 15 points and Myers had 10. Centralia entered tournament play with a 15-5 record.

In the consolation game the Huntington Huntsmen grabbed a narrow 59-55 victory over little Twin. Huntington led the first half, 24-20. After taking a 14-4 first quarter lead. In the third period the Huntsman continued to drop by the wayside as they couldn't prevent Twin from tying up the game, 41-41, at the third quarter mark.

In the fourth period they held on for the close victory.

IN THE SOUTHEASTERN district drawings yesterday at Pike-ton the Centralia Bulldogs will face Sinking Springs, 11-7, of Highland County. The game will be played at 8:30 p. m. Thursday at Pike-ton. Unioto drew the favorite of the district, New Boston, 19-1. Huntington drew the winner of the Bloomingburg - Jeffersonville game.

Centralia's Bobby Shaw and Floyd Myers were placed on the Ross All - County team Saturday night along with Kingston's Larry

Union Furnace Stops L'ville

Victors Win Tourney With 65-55 Decision

Union Furnace captured the Hocking County cage tournament Saturday night by downing Laurelville, 65-55.

The strong Union Furnace quintet also won the Hocking County League. Laurelville earned second place in the loop.

Coach Lonnie Miller's Wildcats made a valiant effort to deadlock things in the final period but couldn't overcome an 18-point lead compiled by the winners earlier in the contest.

UF bounded to a 19-8 first quarter lead and remained ahead, 36-24, at intermission. By the third quarter Union Furnace was out front 53-38, but Laurelville was far from finished.

PACED by little Gary Allen, the Wildcats put on a strong rally which threatened to change the picture. However, the winners retained enough stamina to cut Laurelville six points short of knotting the score.

Allen led all scorers for the evening with 20 points. Mickey Young collected 12 and rebounding specialist Tom Eveland fired for nine. Union Furnace had four men in double figures. Walters was high with 17, Smith collected 12 and Zimmerman and Shaw each posted 11.

Laurelville, seeded in its coming district tournament at Wellston, is slated for its first game Saturday night.

The Wildcats will meet the winner of the contest between Union Furnace and the number one team in the Gallia County tourney, yet to be determined.

Ohio Collegiate Cagers Facing Final Game

3 Conference Titles To Be Decided in Current Week's Play

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio's collegiate teams wheel into the final week of the cage campaign today, with only one of four conference championships decided.

John Carroll wrapped up the Presidents' Conference laurels Saturday night with a 5-0 record by defeating Western Reserve 67-50. But the Ohio, Mid-Ohio and Mid-American crowns depend on this week's finales.

Miami, seeking the Mid-American title and an NCAA tourney bid, has the easier chore. The Redskins, boasting a 10-0 streak, can take it all by beating second-place Marshall (8-2) Wednesday night, or if Toledo upsets the Huntington Herd tonight. A win over Kent State Friday also would put the Redskins on top, even if they lose to Marshall.

Findlay and Wilmington look like good bets to deadlock for the Mid-Ohio. The Oilers (9-1) Tuesday and Defiance (7-4) Saturday, to assure a deadlock, Wilmington (10-1) has only Cedarville (2-8) to get by Thursday to assure a tie.

Probably everything hinges on Wittenberg's invasion of Akron Saturday in the torrid Ohio Conference race. The Lutherans (13-0) and Zippers (10-0) have swept all opposition aside this year in the 14-school circuit, and the climactic tilt could decide the title. "Could," because Akron still has to get by Kenyon (1-11) Wednesday night.

Acron hasn't lost on its home court this year, and Wittenberg hasn't lost at Springfield—so the home floor advantage could sway the verdict when they meet.

For the season Akron has a 17-5 record and Wittenberg 17-2. In conference play Akron has a 79.1 scoring average against Wittenberg's 73.4. But the Lutherans have a better defensive mark, 49.3 to 53.9. It could be quite a scrap.

Cincinnati, pacing the Missouri Valley race with an 11-1 record to Bradley's 9-2—and second-ranked nationally—could clinch the crown and an NCAA tourney bid this week by winning over St. Louis Wednesday and Wichita Saturday. Dayton's surprising Flyers, with a neat 21-2 record, have accepted an NIT bid and will tune up against Loyola of New Orleans Thursday and Toledo Saturday.

Twenty of the 47-games still on the Buckeye slate—42 this week—are against out-of-state foes. Last week the Buckeye clubs lost 10 of 17 interstate frays, their poorest showing of the season, but they still have 185 victories against 117 losses in such competition for the season. The Ohioans have outscored the outsiders 22,379 to 21,023.

Oscar Robertson, Cincinnati's scintillating sophomore, goes into this week's play practically tied for the national scoring championship. The tall kid from Indianapolis is averaging 33.72 for 22 games, just a notch off the 33.76 for 21 games with which Seattle's Elgin Baylor leads the pack.

All-Star Cage Tilt Is Booked

RALEIGH, N. C. (AP)—The first annual North-South All-Star basketball game, bringing together 20 top college players, will be played here March 28.

North Carolina State's Everett Case will coach the South squad and Joe Lapchick of St. John's will handle the North.

Players on the North squad include: Hal Greer, Marshall; Jack Quiggle, Michigan State; Wayne Embry, Miami (Ohio); Don Ohl, Illinois; Arlene Bockhorn, Dayton, and George Kline, Minnesota.

DeMolay Five Halts Fairfield

Circleville Chapter DeMolay captured another cage contest at the Columbus Park of Roses yesterday by downing Fairfield Chapter, 54-26.

Coach Bill Ankrom's cagers were paced by Cecil Galloway with 21 points and Pete Martin with 18. Krinn and Gerhardt excelled in the rebounding department and Hoover turned in a nifty floor game.

The local chapter grabbed a 12-4 first quarter lead and remained well ahead for the remainder of the game.

Circleville's next game is with Newark Chapter. The test will be played at the Park of Roses gym Sunday afternoon.

Hawks Win 2nd Straight Pro Pennant

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The St. Louis Hawks waved their second straight Western Division title flag today with the defending NBA champion Boston Celtics just a step behind in clinching the Eastern Division crown.

The Hawks "backed into" the 1957-58 Western crown over the weekend.

St. Louis bowed to Detroit 98-96 Saturday night while Minneapolis ended Cincinnati's title hopes with a 100-81 victory over the Royals.

Last season St. Louis emerged from a triple tie for the title to win two playoff games and the crown.

Meanwhile, the Boston Celtics assured themselves of at least a tie for the Eastern Division crown with a 99-97 triumph over the Philadelphia Warriors Sunday.

In other Sunday games Cincinnati snapped a six-game losing streak by whipping Minneapolis 111-93 and Syracuse tightened its hold on second place in the Eastern Division with a 101-92 success over St. Louis.

Bob Cousy supplied the second impetus in Boston's victory. Cousy scored 30 points, including his team's last nine as the Celtics overcame a four-point deficit with three minutes to go.

Delany Sees New Indoor Mile Mark

NEW YORK (AP)—Ron (The Unbeatable) Delany predicted today that the world indoor mile record of 4:03.6 is about to be broken.

By Delany?

Of course not. By Istvan Rozsavolgyi, the Hungarian who has run second to Ron in his two races here since arriving less than two weeks ago.

"Rozsavolgyi definitely can break the record," said Delany, "and if I were running against him in the IC4A special mile this week, one or both of us probably would break it."

Delany will be taken up with defense of his 1,000-yard and two-mile titles in the IC4A meet, where team points count more than individual championships. His Villanova outfit is defending champion and will need every point Ron can muster.

Rozsavolgyi will go in a special mile at the meet.

So if Rozsavolgyi is going to lower Gunnar Nielsen's record, he'll have to do it this week and alone. He leaves for home after his next effort to begin training for the European championships this summer.

Saturday night in the National AAU championships, he ran the mile in 4:05.5 in pushing Delany to a 4:03.7 effort.

Five Telephone Employees Honored with Service Pins

Five employees who have spent a total of 155 years in the telephone business were especially honored by the Ohio Consolidated Telephone Co. at a dinner at Wardell's Party Home, Friday night.

Honored were Miss Mary Howard, 330 E. Union St.; Miss Maggie Mavis, 647 E. Mound St.; Ross Skaggs, 423 S. Scioto St.; Mrs. Lorraine Ballentine, 114 Collins Court, and Mrs. Frances Grant, Ashville.

Miss Howard received her fifth diamond denoting 45 years of service with the telephone company. She began her employment as an operator with the Citizen's Telephone Co., June 10, 1911. At that time, offices were located at the L. M. Butch Company on W. Main St. Four telephone operators efficiently handled local and long distance calls in the Circleville area due to the fact that residents could only place long distance calls to Columbus and Cincinnati.

Miss Mavis received her fourth diamond as a tribute to 40 years of service. She was an operator for a period of two years, immediately after she was hired by the Citizen's Telephone Company, June 26, 1916, and has been a service assistant for 38 of her 40 years with the company.

Ross Skaggs worked his way from ground man to become assistant to the plant chief, G. R. Ghearing. He started his 30 years service June 6, 1927, for which he received his second diamond.

Knowland Sets 1964 as His Big Bid Year

WASHINGTON — Sen. William Knowland of California has set his sights on the 1964—or possibly 1968—Republican presidential nomination.

Knowland, the Senate Republican leader who is running this year for governor of California, practically took himself out of the 1960 presidential contest with a conditional endorsement of Vice-President Nixon.

"If I am elected governor of California I expect to serve out my term," he said. "I think Dick Nixon is likely to be the presidential nominee and I would support him."

Knowland made it clear, however, he is not foreclosing the possibility that he himself would become a candidate for the 1960 nomination if anything should happen to eliminate Nixon.

Knowland's decision to wait it out beyond 1960 apparently is based on the belief that (1) Nixon now is far ahead in the contest for the nomination, (2) that 1960 might not be a good year for the Republicans and (3) that he is young enough at 49 to bid his time until 1964 or even 1968.

The Knowland strategy apparently takes into account the possibility that Nixon might be nominated and defeated in 1960 and thus open up the field for Knowland in 1964.

Ohio Narcotics Law Is Hailed

Federal Aide Cites Anti-Dope Actions

WASHINGTON — Ohio's tough anti-narcotics law has eliminated so many drug peddlers that federal narcotics agents are "just about out of business" there.

That is the opinion of Narcotics Commissioner H. J. Anslinger in testimony made public today by a House Appropriations Subcommittee.

For the first 11 months of 1957, Anslinger noted, there were 66 addicts reported in Ohio. This compares with more than 300 annually before a new law was passed in 1955.

Crediting former governor, now senator, Lausche (D-Ohio) and Ohio Gov. C. William O'Neill for the legislation, Anslinger said:

"We do not have much business in Ohio any more, because they (peddlers) just won't stand the sentences they get in Ohio for unlawful sale."

"In fact, the judges in Ohio not only give the minimum of 20 years but they are actually giving life sentences... that shows what a state can do to run them out."

"You can see we are just about out of business in Ohio."

A chart submitted by Anslinger also showed a noticeable drop after 1955 in addicts under 21.

Asked by Subcommittee Chairman Gary (D-Va.) whether most states have improved their anti-narcotics laws, Anslinger replied:

"I would say we are very weak in legislation in the two worst places. Illinois has corrected theirs. Michigan has good laws, but New York and California, where you have this big concentration of traffic, have unsatisfactory legislation."

Anslinger said New York state has been doing something about this by holding hearings on legislation. In addition, he said Gov. Averell Harriman is backing heavier penalties for peddlers.

Tenth of Women Pregnant Before Marriage, Is Claim

NEW YORK — One in 10 American women becomes pregnant before marriage, the Kinsey Institute reported today.

Of those pregnancies which do not lead to quick marriages, 89 per cent end in abortion, the institute said; 6 per cent produce illegitimate children and 5 per cent end in miscarriage.

A copyrighted article in the current issue of McCall's magazine is based on the report, the first issued by the Institute for Sex Research at Indiana University since the death of the institute's founder, Dr. Alfred C. Kinsey, in 1956.

The report, titled "Pregnancy, Birth and Abortion," also said: "Among all women of child-bearing age now alive, one in seven has had or will have a pre-marriage abortion."

Most unmarried women who undergo abortions continue sexual relations afterward. Only 3 per cent stop.

"Shotgun weddings" are comparatively rare. Only 19 per cent of single women who become pregnant marry during their pregnancies. Half these marriages eventually break up.

Women born during the Gay 90s were less sexually promiscuous than those who reached adolescence during and after the Roaring 20s. The flaming youth of the 20s apparently set a new sexual pattern for the nation.

Two thirds of the single women who have had abortions reported no unfavorable consequences whatever.

The more devoutly religious a woman is, the less likely she is to become pregnant before marriage.

Of women who marry after reaching 30 years of age, 31 per cent having premarital sexual relations become pregnant and 30 per cent have abortions.

The magazine article is based on the third book in the famous Kinsey reports on sexual behavior to be published May 14.

The statistics are derived from the group of nearly 8,000 women interviewed for the institute's 1953 report, "Sexual Behavior in the Human Female." After eliminating certain women who remained a sample of 5,293.

In its 1953 report of female sex behavior, the institute said half the women questioned had sexual experience before marriage. Of these, one in five becomes pregnant, the new report said.

"Pregnancy before marriage is not just a rare problem, not just a mischance which affects an occasional ignorant farm girl—but a widespread social problem," the report said.

What kind of women are most likely to have sexual relations before marriage and become pregnant? It depends on many factors, according to the article, varying from "a chance fragrance in the summer air" to "a woman's own sexual appetite."

PANMUNJOM, Korea (AP)—North Korea stood pat today on its refusal to return a Korean National Airlines plane and its passengers unless South Korea agrees to negotiate with the Communists directly.

The U. N. Command in turn rejected a Communist proposal that U.N. troops get out of South Korea.

The twin-engine transport flew across the truce line Feb. 16 carrying 34 persons, including two American pilots. The U.N. Command is certain it was seized by Communists on board.

Bandit Thoughtful Of Victim's 2 Kids

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—"Hand over your wallet," the bandit told hotel clerk David H. Haight.

Haight did, apologizing for having only $2.

"Got any kids?" the holdup man asked.

"Two," Haight replied. "Keep the two bucks," said the gunman and left with $48 from the hotel's till.

Knowland Sets 1964 as His Big Bid Year

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. William Knowland of California has set his sights on the 1964—or possibly 1968—Republican presidential nomination.

Knowland, the Senate Republican leader who is running this year for governor of California, practically took himself out of the 1960 presidential contest with a conditional endorsement of Vice-President Nixon.

"If I am elected governor of California I expect to serve out my term," he said. "I think Dick Nixon is likely to be the presidential nominee and I would support him."

Knowland made it clear, however, he is not foreclosing the possibility that he himself would become a candidate for the 1960 nomination if anything should happen to eliminate Nixon.

Knowland's decision to wait it out beyond 1960 apparently is based on the belief that (1) Nixon now is far ahead in the contest for the nomination, (2) that 1960 might not be a good year for the Republicans and (3) that he is young enough at 49 to bide his time until 1964 or even 1968.

The Knowland strategy apparently takes into account the possibility that Nixon might be nominated and defeated in 1960 and thus open up the field for Knowland in 1964.
